Paris, 1869 (1st was 1829). 3/4 red morocco over marbled boards, with the original wraps bound-in, t.e.g., lxiii + 480pp., 71 hand-colored lithographed plates (Title + 70 plates), plus a profusion of wood-engraved in-text illustrations. Near Fine, inside and out, with the plates very fresh. Offered together with an original preparatory drawing for Plate III "Tu t'entetes a jouer avec Monsieur, tu vois bien qu'il retourne le roi a chaque coup." Pen & Ink over Black Chalk. 5 x 7 1/8 in.; 127 x 182 mm
Signed, lower right, "Grandville." The drawing shows the left two thirds of the published plate (the two figures conversing, the fox playing cards, and the table with the cloth and the lamp) in finished form; a female figure is drawn lightly in pencil, seated on the other side of the table, playing cards with the fox. In the published drawing, this figure has been changed, and a fifth figure, to the right, has been added. The design of the lamp has also been modified. In Fine condition. Original artwork by Grandville is uncommon, and a piece showing a stage in the creative development of a work of such fame and importance as Les Metamorphoses is particularly interesting and appealing. $3500.00

Grandville (JEAN-IGNACE-ISIDORE GÉRARD), 1803-1847, was a caricaturist best known for presenting animals in human form and using them to satirize the French social and political milieu of his period. His reputation was established with Metamorphoses du Jour in 1829, and he went on to illustrate numerous other satirical books, as well as literary classics. He also drew for the humor magazines of the period "Charivari" and "Caricature." His work has continued to influence artists down to the present day.

165. (Neill, John R.)illus. THE LOST KING OF OZ by Ruth Plumley Thompson. Reilly & Lee, Chicago, c. 1927 (1st was 1925), with DJ titles through "Gnome King in Oz," and DJ price of $1.60. Hanff, Greene, P.92. 8vo., deep blue cloth, DJ, paste-on illustration, 280pp., 12 color plates, tipped-in and coated on both sides, indicating early reprint, as first issue had plates coated on one side, and later issues had plates bound-in. The book Fine, the DJ with tears and chips, but intact and bright, still making a very nice appearance. Scarce thus. $375.00
166. (Neill, John R.)illus. THE MAGIC OF OZ by L. Frank Baum. Reilly & Lee, Chi., 1919 (later printing). Light green cloth, pastedown illustration, 266pp., 12 color plates. Hanff/Greene p. 74. A printing subsequent to State 3; no publishers advertisements, but plates tipped-in, as in the early states, rather than bound-in. There is a 1"x1/2" scraped area on the pastedown, and some very light wear to the corners, else a very good copy. $145.00
167. (Neill, John R.)illus. THE MAGIC OF OZ by L. Frank Baum. Reilly & Lee, Chi., 1919 (later printing). Blue cloth, pastedown illustration, 266pp., 12 color plates. Hanff/Greene p. 74. A printing subsequent to State 3; no publishers advertisements, but plates tipped-in, as in the early states, rather than bound-in. Pastedown margins lightly worn, a few stains on the rear cover, a small hole in the margin of the half-title, but still a very clean, fresh and attractive copy. $175.00

173. (Nelson, Harold)illus. EARLY ENGLISH PROSE ROMANCES: ROBERT THE DEUYLL, ROBIN HOOD, FRYER BACON by William J. Thoms. Otto Schulze & Co. Edinburgh, 1904, edition of 500 copies (First thus. The first editions, without the Nelson illustrations were published in 1827 and 1828, and a revised edition was published in 1858). Three volumes (Parts I, II and III, quarto, cloth-backed, gold-stamped boards, 150pp, elaborate decorative elements, typography and illustrations, printed on Unbleached Arnold paper by Turnbull & Spears, Edinburgh. Thoms, 1803-1885, is credited with coining the term "Folklore," and he collected and wrote down many of the classic English folk stories and tales in these and other books. Nelson, 1871-1948 was very much influenced by the work of William Morris and Albrecht Durer, and these influences can be seen in the work he did for these books, and in their production. All Very Good with some darkening from exposure to light, and with light rubbing to the cloth. $225.00
174. (Nicholson, William)illus. POLLY - AN OPERA by John Gay. Heinemann, London, 1923. Limited edition of 380 copies, signed by William Nicholson. 4to., cloth, 106pp., 9 tipped-on color plates. 177. (Olesiewicz, S.)illus. NAPOLEON by Honore de Balzac. Duchartre & Van Buggenhoudt, Paris, 1927. Folio, Pictorial Boards, 46pp., illustrated in pochoir throughout with pictures in the manner of 1st Empire. Wear to cloth spine and edges, front inner hinge repaired, else VG $175.00
178. (Opper, A)illus. SLATE AND PENCIL PEOPLE by Emma A. Opper. White, Stokes and Allen, NY, 1885. Square 4to., pictorial boards, unpaginated. Poems and illustrations. Very Good, with some edge and corner wear, gift inscription on front endpaper, some browning to endpapers. $150.00
179. Oz. (Neill, John R.) illust. THE PATCHWORK GIRL OF OZ by L. Frank Baum. Reilly & Lee, Chicago, 1919 or 1920. 8vo., light tan cloth stamped in red and black, Woozy in red & black on spine, pictorial endpapers, color illustrations in text throughout, advertisements on half-title through Magic of OZ, five advertisements following page 343. Fine throughout, a very attractive copy. VG $275.00
- Hanff, Greene, page 63ff., considers the tan cloth to a be the secondary binding of the Reilly & Britton first edition, and describes early Reilly & Lee printings as being in this binding, and as being otherwise nearly identical to the secondary issues of the first edition. The fact that this copy has advertisements on the half-title though Magic of OZ, implies the 1919-1920 date, making it the earliest reprint. "Magic of Oz" 1919, was the first Oz book published under the Reilly and Lee imprint, and "Glinda of OZ" was the next, in 1920. The fact that Magic is the last in the list of advertized books, dates it as being issued prior to the publication of Glinda. The binding, however, tan, colored in red and black, varies from the secondary first edition binding which was tan, colored in red, green and yellow. Nevertheless, I base the dating on the publisher's usual practice of adding the newly published books to the list of advertisements on the half-title. Patchwork Girl, unlike most of the Oz books had no inserted color plates in any of the editions.
180. OZ. (Neill, John R.)illus. GRAMPA IN OZ by Ruth Plumley Thompson. Reilly & Lee, Chicago, 1924 (1st Edition) Hanff, Greene, P.94. 8vo., light brick red cloth, paste-on, 271pp. (heavy stock, book 1 7/16 in. thick), perfect type on pp. 171 and 189, indicating a first printing, 12 color plates. About Fine. $350.00

181. Panton, Edith F. A. U. KING DESIRE AND HIS KNIGHTS. Fenno, NY, 1913. 8vo. pictorial cloth, 218pp., 8 exquisite color plates with the monogram "ED." Fine. $7.50
182. (Parrish, Maxfield)illus. KNICKERBOCKER'S HISTORY OF NEW YORK by Washington Irving. Russell, NY, 1900 (1st Edition; there was a reprint in 1915). 4to., cloth-backed paper-covered boards, with paste-on illustration, 299pp., top edge gilt, 8 b/w plates. Light edge and corner wear, light soiling to the paste-on, a short, clean marginal tear to the frontispiece, not touching the image, else a very nice copy of this early Parrish work, now hard to find in collectible condition. Together with Mother Goose in Prose and Knave of Hearts, Knickerbocker's History forms the "triple crown" of most desirable books illustrated by Parrish. $750.00
183. (Parrish, Maxfield)illus. MOTHER GOOSE IN PROSE by L. Frank Baum. Way & Williams, Chicago, 1897 (1st edition, 1st state). 4to., pictorial gray-white cloth, 265pp., 12 plates. The illustration on the front cover is somewhat rubbed and scratched, and there are spots of light foxing to the cloth. A bookplate has been pasted to the ownership box on the title page, with glue residue visible around it, but the bookplate is that of R. H. Ives Gammell (Master Robert Hale Ives Gammell). The internals are otherwise in remarkably Fine condition, and of the several copies we have had over the years of this scarce and desirable title, Frank Baum's first book for children, and Maxfield Parrish's first illustrated book, this is, overall, the best. $3500.00
- R. H. Ives Gammell (1893-1981), was a painter and art historian, who considered himself the last classically trained artist in America. His first book, "The Twilight of Painting," undertaken after he suffered a breakdown upon realization that as an artist, he was out of step with the times, laments what he saw as the end of 500 years of tradition, and deplores modern and abstract art. His later book, "The Boston Painters," is a history of the group of American painters known as "The Boston School."

254. (Sterrett, Virginia Frances)illus. TANGLEWOOD TALES by Nathaniel Hawthorne. Penn Publishing Co., Philadelphia, 1921. A variant, possibly later printing. 4to., cloth, 261pp., 8 color plates, including frontispiece, and 14 in-text illustrations in b/w. This copy varies from the one usually seen in the following respects:
1. There is no pictorial paste-on on this copy, and there clearly seems not to have been one, or the intention to have one, as this copy does not have the embossed gold square which frames the paste-on the other issue (and on the companion volume "Old French Fairy Tales").
 2. The cloth is different. The usually seen issue has cloth with narrow parallel vertical lines; this cloth has both horizontal and vertical lines.
 3. Both have a copyright date of 1921, with no publication date stated.
 4. The usually seen issue has the Penn Publishing logo in a horizontal oval format at the bottom of the spine; on this copy the format of the oval is vertical. On this copy the logo is less elaborate and more modern in appearance, rather Art Deco versus the other, which is more Art Nouveau.
 5. The usually seen issue has a Greek Key pattern surrounding the copyright notice; this copy has a pattern of "curlicues."

6. Unless I have missed something, the books are otherwise identical.

I have obtained and laid in a copy of the paste-on to accompany this copy, in the event I am wrong about it not being called for with this issue.

Owner's name on front pastedown, else Fine. $250.00
